

Once upon a time, a long time ago in a faraway kingdom.

There lived a much beloved Emperor and he had a unique way to choose his Empress. And so begins our tale: Baroness Deborah once again enters the meadow this time carrying a pillow on which sits a diamond and ruby crown. Baroness Deborah states "By royal decree: the Kingdom of DWW requires a new Empress and in accordance with the King's decree two Princesses will now battle to be the new Empress." Deborah says "Princess Natasha, Do you accept the challenge?"

A lovely blonde wearing nothing but a tiara walks over to the Baroness and removes her tiara and hands it to the Baroness Natasha says "I accept the challenge. I will prove I am more woman than Anabelle"

Then she walks to the centre of the meadow and sits down on the grass Baroness Deborah says "Princess Anabelle, Do you accept the challenge" A second nude blonde also wearing a tiara strides over to the Baroness hands over her tiara.

Anabelle says " I accept, Natasha will know I am the better woman" Then proceeds over to the meadow centre, she sits down facing the other Princess.

Deborah says "Get into position for the King's challenge"

The Princesses slide forward into a scissoring position with their pussies almost touching.

They then sit up and grab the arm of their opponent, pulling each toward the other until their breasts and mouths are quite close.

Deborah says "Begin" !

They start aggressively kissing and fondling their opponent trying to gain the advantage. As both get more excited they begin to trib fight. Each tries to change positions to aid her cause. One Princess eventually weakens, at this point her opponent pins her in the missionary position, and forces the weaker women to orgasm. While they are still in the missionary position the winning Princess looks down at her defeated rival and says "I am the better woman."

The losing Princess says "Yes you Empress"

After the winner recovers she walks over to the Baroness.

The Baroness places the crown on the winners head, bows and says "All hail the new Empress"

*** - ***